"Everybody got a small town anthem;

As a 6th grader, Ryan Tierney began taking piano lessons and fell in love with music. Since then, he has taken guitar lessons and taught himself how to play drums, bass, and ukulele, but guitar remains his favorite. Although he does not have a specific song he likes to play, he is partial to the Red Hot Chili Peppers and Pinegrove. Mainly a solo artist, he even writes and records his own music, but he is always open to playing with friends for a good time. Ryan is in the process of producing his own music; while it has not been released yet, be on the lookout, as he says, "It should be out pretty soon."

As college began to creep into her mind, Olivia Price decided to use her creative side to start saving up. In December of 2020, she began making and selling stickers from her own home. Doing that gives her the freedom to go at her own pace and grow with her business. When asked why she enjoys her work, Olivia answered, "It is an amazing learning opportunity. Being my own boss allows me to work when I can and take time off when things get really busy." Although she always adds and changes stickers, one of her favorite designs is the "vegan for the animals" sticker. This sticker and other designs are available on her Etsy shop, KikiByOP, so check them out!

At 7 years old, Kayley Cronin was introduced to horseback riding by her best friend and her family. At that point, Kayley began taking lessons at Endeavor Farms in Dover and has even competed. Although she no longer competes, she still takes lessons, works at the farm, and rides for fun. Despite a busy schedule, there is always time for a friendly competition between her and her friends while they are out in the fields together. Kayley loves riding and jumping her favorite horse, Revelle, on the cross country fields. If you asked her to explain her favorite part about riding, she would answer, "I am able to see my closest friends more because most of them ride, too."

Everybody got a story to tell..."

-Thomas Rbett

Whether acting, filming, or editing, Maddie Curmi always made videos growing up. As a high schooler, she began volunteering for Medfield TV, and in the summer before junior year she became the Assistant Production Coordinator. In this position, she is responsible for reporting, filming, and editing. During Covid, Maddie co-produced a show called "What the Youth," which was nominated for the Massachusetts Access Creator Award. She also began an astronomy podcast and produced many other shows, including our phenomenal Pep Rally video! She loves that, every time she walks into her studio, there are new things for her to learn and that she has "acquired real world business experience such as attending team meetings, coordinating, and collaborating on projects and working to meet deadlines."

Right before his 11th birthday, Nimai Kini began his squash career. It was at a squash camp that he realized he "couldn't get enough of it." Pre-Covid, training at Squashfit Academy, he would practice 8-10 hours a week, while playing in tournaments on the weekend once or twice a month. Even with no special titles, Nimai has been in the top 40 players in the country for boys under the age of 13, 15, and 17. He enjoys playing the sport because it excites him to compete, and one of his favorite memories is "winning in a tie break in the 5th game and the crowd going wild." Although his high school career is coming to an end, this is not the end for him, as he committed to play squash for Wesleyan University.

Playing bagpipes was not always a part of life for Paul Narkewich, but when his mom heard of a group he could join he figured why not give it a try? He thought it would be a fun, new experience unique to him because no one else he knew played. He started playing with the Colonial Bagpipers in November of freshman year, and this past year they began playing at some of the Boston College football games. Paul found out that his group had worked with the BC teams before but hadn't collaborated in about 6 years. BC hired a new athletic director, though, and he has said he would like to begin working with the Bagpipers consistently again. Paul enjoys playing for BC and says he "is not entirely sure if they'll continue next year, but here's hoping."

Senior Snowball

In December, due to Covid restrictions, the usual Winter Semi was unfortunately canceled. Instead, all seniors were invited to a private Senior Snowball at Prowse Farm. Katherine Waters and Deeya Yadapadithaya stepped up to host the event, full of "ugly" sweaters and masks, and it was a big success!

Medfield High School Faculty Honors

Jessica Safer

State StuCo Advisor of the Year

Ms. Safer has been the MHS Student Council Advisor for 14 years and, through her hard work, has helped to make the school a better place. StuCo President Caitlin Panciocco explained, "She cares deeply about the happiness of all Medfield High School students and consistently pushes our council to go above and beyond to make events inclusive and fun for everyone." She is clearly a leader, as she also serves as a math teacher and the math department chair. Principal Parga even noted, "She encourages our student leaders to engage all school community members in activities that promote school spirit." She is most deserving of this award.

Luanne Galt

Retiring Math Teacher

Ms. Galt, otherwise known as the Math Mother, has been teaching at MHS for 23 years. When asked what she would miss the most, she said being with her colleagues, the math crew. Their friendship and support have meant so much to her over the years. She will also miss her "Cherubeanie Babies" who have brightened her days in the classroom. She made a point to say she hopes she has brought to their lives just a fraction of what they have brought to hers. She then noted, "I'm excited to start the next chapter, to explore new things and spend more time with my kids. However, the Medfield community will always be in my heart."

Medfield High School Faculty Honors

Maria Hutsick

Retiring Athletic Trainer & Teacher

Maria has spent 15 years here at MHS as an athletic trainer and teacher in the Wellness Department.

She said she will particularly miss being an athletic trainer and thus helping so many students in their sports. In fact, she recently stated, "I loved what I did and felt that Medfield was a great place to come after Boston University. I wish I had come earlier." She worked at BU for more than 20 years and has since been inducted into the Ithaca College Athletic Hall of Fame. She has also served as an athletic trainer for Olympic teams and an injury spotter for the NFL Network.

She has had a storied career in the field of sports medicine and athletic training.

Ross Irwin

Retiring Math Teacher

Mr. Irwin had a pro soccer career at one point and has been teaching for 38 years, with the last 30 here at MHS. He has thoroughly enjoyed working alongside some wonderful educators and coaches. He said Medfield is a special community, and he is thankful to have taught so many students who are eager to learn and be successful in life. He will really miss helping his math students navigate the sometimes intimidating world of numbers. However, he is looking forward to the future. He said, "The next chapter of my journey will allow me to relax at my new home in Falmouth and enjoy a more recreational lifestyle that will include travel to bonny Scotland."

Thanks again to all of the advertisers in this business ads section!

Next up is the "baby ads" section. It has become quite a tradition over the years for families and friends of the graduating seniors to be given the opportunity to purchase/design recognition ads via Jostens by a certain deadline. This year, that deadline was even extended! The next 35 pages are filled with baby photos, throwback candids, and messages of congratulations.

We are so grateful for all of the financial and moral support!

YEAR TWO++

As the COVID-19 pandemic continued into year two, it offered unexpected challenges. Businesses found ways to innovate and stay afloat. Schools, many of which lost students to homeschooling, developed creative solutions to keep students enrolled and engaged. And while approved vaccines brought the promise of a return to normal, virus variants Delta and Omicron challenged an already-stressed health care system. Even so, 99% of students remained in school full time at the end of 2021.
